Initial League Championship In Local School

Bob Bonner's bodacious Bees brought back the bacon by beating a big bunch of bruisers from Marysville 27-13 Tuesday night on Hennessy field.

The team brought Nevada City high school its first conference championship in athletics in the schools 70-year history, and the first championship team since the 1917 rugby team won the Nevada county championship.

Bonner's boys won the championship by defeating the Marysville Papooses to climax an undefeated season. Only blot on the record is a 13-13 tie with Placer high school of Auburn.

Coach Art Hooper of Grass Valley in commenting on the B team said the squad can be the varsity conference champions of 1952. Hooper cited the size and ranginess of the rugged B line that averages 161 pounds as 15 and 16 year olds. As 17 and 18 year olds, Hooper said they are going to be big and rough.

Despite the cold and wind the Hennessy field stands were well filled when the B game started as the last and principal attraction of the evening.

Nevada City kicked to the visitors. Mel Castle ran to the right and in the ensuing scramble the left end of the Pappooses, Junley Richey slipped into the protective coloring of the Marysville bench-warmers and the second play of the game saw the old-time sleeper used. The play was good to the Nevada City one-foot line from where Halfback Ruie Newburn plunged for six points. The conversion attempt failed.

Unperturbed and like true champions the Bees despite the momentary setback, ground out a business-like and certain victory.

The first of three Bee touchdowns in the second quarter was set up by a blocked kick. Right Guard Larry Williams chested Castle's kick and recovered on the Papoose 30.

Steve Pieser passed to Ray Kirk on the 17 and the end ran the rest of the way to tie the score. Pello plunged but could not score the extra point.

In a matter of minutes Nevada City went out in front, climaxing a 45-yard drive when Halfback Bill Sturtevant scored from the three. Pieser went off tackle for the extra point.

In three plays the Bees had their third touchdown. Ernie Pello lofted the kickoff to the double stripe and Marysville lost the ball on a fumble on the tackle on the four-yard line. Two plunges into the line Pello went over for the TD. Pieser drove for the extra point.

The half ended with the Bees on the Marysville one-yard line.

In the third quarter Marysville fumbled Pieser's punt on their own 41 and Nevada City recovered. Pieser passed to Kirk on the 16. Bill Sturtevant took it to the nine. Bill Behrbaum crashed to the six and Pieser hit Don Boucher with an aerial in the end zone. Pello ran the extra point.

Marysville scored in the third quarter on a 83-yard drive. Castle passed to End Howard Christian in the end zone for the final 17 yards. Fullback Darrell Phillips plowed the extra point.

NEVADA COUNTY CALLED RACKET PAYOFF LOCALE

Nevada county was named as the locale of a payoff from slot machine operations to a "certain public employee" with half of the payoff going to local officials and half to the attorney general's office, according to the report of the State Commission on Organized Crime, appointed by Governor Earl Warren.

The naming of Nevada county as the payoff spot was contained in the final report of the commission to the governor. The commission went out of existence June 30.

"Regular collections" were taken by "a certain public employee from slot machines operators" in Nevada county over a considerable period of time, the commission said. "Under the representation of the amounts paid, half was for local officials, half for the attorney general's office."

Evidence of a statewide protection scheme came from 16 of California's counties, including Nevada and Placer counties the commission reported.

The commission accused Attorney General Fred N. Howser of failing to cooperate in its investigations and indeed actively opposing it on occasion.

"Repeatedly," the commission charged, "the attorney general sent to investigate the incidents reported to him the very investigators whose names had been mentioned as personally involved."

"An indulgent jury," the commission said, in Sonoma county, acquitted three men whom the commission called "participants in the branded punchboard racket."

Of their trial the report says: "The prosecution's evidence showed that these three men, sometimes together and sometimes separately and in many different parts of the state, represented thy had th authority and th approval of the attorney general's office in setting up a system of protected operation of the board's in return for the payment of graft."

ESCAPES INJURY

Ollie J. Shepherd, Nevada City, escaped injury when his car struck a tree head-on on the Celestial valley road Sunday night. He was cited by California highway patrol for being drunk on a public road.

TURPENTINE AND WOOD PULP NAMED FUTURE INDUSTRY POTENTIALS

Turpentine and wood pulp production were cited as two of Nevada county's probable future industries at a meeting of the Nevada county employment council Tuesday night, in Grass Valley.

More than eighty employers and civic leaders of the county attended the session devoted to a study of the development of industry and payroll in the county.

M. F. (Pop) Small, secretary to Governor Earl Warren took part in the discussion and promised assistance of state agencies and bureaus in developing industrial activities here.

Possibilities of development of the turpentine and wood pulp industries here were presented by Don Knowlton, ranger with the state division of forestry here.

Knowlton said recent studies had proven that California turpentine was superior to the product from the southern states and that a large wood pulp supply centers in this area.

Among the commercial enterprizes discussed for future development were truck gardening, poultry raising, recreation, dairying, apple growing, and fruit and vegetable freezing enterprizes.

William Esterly, Grass Valley realtor and chairman of the county employment council, presided.

SUPERVISORS REQUEST ROBINSON APPOINTMENT

A resolution requesting Guy N. Robinson, Indian Springs, be appointed to the Nevada caunty board of supervisors immediately was adopted by the board which met Monday morning to canvass ballotts of the general election.

Robinson was elected supervisor for the fourth district in a runoff with Ed Kohler, North San Juan.

The board has operated without a representative from the fourth district since the death of Warren E. Odell, board chairman, Sept. 10.

The resolution asked Gevernor Earl Warren appoint Robinson to the post immediately. Under ordinary circumstances Robinson would take office Monay, Jan. .

DAWN TO DUSK DRIVE BRINGS $2,400 IN FUNDS

Cash collections in Wednesday's dawn-to-dusk Boy Scout fund raising campaign totaled $1,669.05 and pledges brought the total to more than $2,400, according to H. J. Ray, chairman of the fund drive.

The well prepared campaign was declared the best organized and executed drive by a group of community leaders he had ever seen by Ray Ewan, Auburn, scout executive of Tahoe Area Council.

Ray was assisted in the organization of the campaign by Guerdon Ellis and Howard Smith of the Tahoe national forest office.

The one-day drive opened with a breakfast at the ungodly hour of 7 a.m. in the parish hall of the Trinity Episcopal church attended by 110 team workers and directors who canvassed prospects given them by the organizers. The workers returned to the Episcopal church Wednesday evening to turn in their collections.

TO RESTORE GALLOWS

Antone Lavezzola, Downeville, has been salvaging the pieces of the old gallows near the Sierra county court house, which blew over in the hard wind of Nov. 2. It is a relic of the days when sheriffs hanged criminals.

HAIL TO THE HEROES

The annals of sports are packed with the stories of the Garrison finish, the momentary rise to the heights, the turning of hopeless defeat into victory, and most of them are associated with the maturer athlete—the college man or the professional. Rare indeed in the annals of sports is there a story of a handful of 15 and 16 year olds who in a businesslike manner, without individual stars, who have ground their way to championship. Taking their place in an honored niche of the sporting hall of fame are the freshmen and sophomore gridiron players of Bob Bonner's junior varsity squad of Nevada City high school.

Tuesday night, we in the press box, felt that Bonner's adolescents might not recover from the initial setback incurred by the sleeper-pass touchdown of the Marysville Papooses. But apparently that gang of kids were not upset or annoyed about it, for they in a business-like manner and unperturbed crunched their way to a decisive victory—like a true champion.

In the traditional game with Grass Valley we could not detect any fired-up enthusiasm among the Bees as they took the field against their Armistice day rivals. They went out and played a steady, errorless game that left no doubt of the outcome from the opening kickoff.

Hail the champions—the first in Nevada City high school conference competition.

POINTING THE WAY

Nevada City high school's first conference championship in athletics points the way to a possible new school spirit for the institution—a will to win that has been sadly lacking for many a year.

Nevada City's Yellowjackets of 1950 took the worst beating ever administered in the 52-game series played between the school and the Grass Valley high school. Yet man for man the Yellowjackets outweighed their opponents nine pounds a man in the line and six pounds a man in the backfield. The team possessed the best center in the league and had par material from tackle to tackle. Sadly lacking in reserves two men in the backfield were suitable high school material. With no better materials many other schools have won games. The squad has a capable coach in Tom Nelson. What then is wrong with the Nevada City high school football team? There is only one answer left—no morale, no will to win, no will to play football.

Bob Bonner's Bees may have lighted the spark that will return morale to the school.

A high school with fine spirit in both the realm of scholarship or on the field or sport, can be a great asset to a city.

We understand one of Nevada City's young men is recovering from a sprained neck. Seems the local bus made a stop to discharge a woman passenger. As she picked up a basket inside the door she remarked, "Let me take my clothes off" in a voice loud enough for the young man to overhear while his nose was buried in a newspaper. The basket contained laundry.

It seems almost incredible that an alien political philosophy, such as Socialism, could creep up on a people who despise it but that is just what is happening here at an accelerating pace. It is time the self styled "liberals" leading the parade be asked for an accounting. Active citizens feel that it is time now for us to put the X mark on the left wingers before they put the double cross on all of us!—Brookhaven, Miss., Leader-Times.

What this country needs instead of fewer big businesses, is a lot more of them, decently run for the benefit of the workmen, the public and the consumers, which, of course, they have to do or they will not be big very long, in fact they would not be a business of any size very long if they were not run right.—Knoxville, Iowa, Express.

If the National Association of County Officials will campaign for new legislation, recasting the traditional form of county government, more power to them. It is to be hoped that it is not merely organizing to get more funds for county government.—Brownisville, Pa., Telegraph.

One of our exchange newspapers is a perennial source of laughs for its typographical errors. One of its recent slips went like this: "Coach —— is again active after being laid up for several days with a bad coed."

A pink elephant, a green rat, and a polka-dotted snake walked into one of the Broad street taverns. "You're a little early boys," the bartender said, "he ain't here yet."

We're not complaining but we did overhear a remark that too many modern bathing suits are too much of not enough.

UNANSWERED QUESTIONS

Walter H. Judd, congressman from Minnesota, returned to Washintgon recently from his home, after circulating among his constituents.

On the House of Representatives floor, Judd stated, "The American people are deeply worried. They are asking questions, but they are not getting answers. I could not answer many of them because I have raised similar questions myself and have never been able to get satisfactory answers from the administration."

He then asked permission to have the following examples inserted the Congressional Record, because he declared they disclos how gravly concerned the people are regarding the world situation and the course of events in Washington:

1—What happened to the $95,000,000,000 spent on national defense since World War II?

2—Why did only $1 out of every seven defense dollars go for combat equipment between 1946 and 1950?

3—Why did President Truman limit the Air Force to 48 groups when the Republican 80th Congress ordered the Air Force expanded to 70 groups?

4—Why, if Communism was a menace in Asia, were there only six General Pershing tanks, only 30 propellate (tactical) combat planes, only one aircraft carrier, and not a single combat marine in the Japanese area when we entered the Korean conflict?

5—Why did President Truman on Dec. 15, 1945, officially announce that unless our ally, China, admitted Communists to its government, China would get no more American aid?

6—Who was best serving America—the Administration which for fifty years defended the Open Door in China, or the Truman Administration which abandoned China to Soviet exploitation?

7—Why, when Congress had voted $10,500,000 military air for South Korea eight months earlier, had South Korea received only $200 worth of Signal Corps wire when the Communists struck, June 25?

8—Whose advice was the administration following when it asked last year for $150,000,000 in economic aid for South Korea—that of its long-time adviser, Owen Lattimore, who said in July, 1949, that "The thing to do is let South Korea fall but not to let it look as though we pushed it" — hence, the recommendation of a parting grant of $150,000,000?

9—Why did Secretary of State Acheson virtually invite the Communists to take Korea, Formosa, and the balance of China by announcing Jan. 12, 1950, that they were beyond our "defense perimeter"?

10—On what basis did President Truman declare—only 27 days before ordering American troops into Korea—that we were closer to a permanent peace "than any time in the last five years"?

11—Which was wiser—the administration's appeasement policy that enabled Russia, in the five years after World War II, to extend its domination from 170,000,000 persons to 800,000,000 persons, or Republican insistence on a firm anti-Communist policy?

12—What will the administration do in Asia in the future—return to appeasement?

ACCORDING TO NAVAL REGULATIONS

Guests in one of San Francisco's swank hotels, hearing a scream in the hall, discovered a young lady in negligee being pursued by a gentleman who was, to put it bluntly, nude. It developed he was a naval lieutenant, senior grade, and he was promptly court-martialed. His counsel won him acquittal, however, by citing the following service regulation: "It is not compulsory for an officer to wear a uniform at all times, as long as he is suitably garbed for the sport in which he is participating."

Dictators and tyrants of our era have found that by first controlling the press of a nation the control of the inhabitants of that nation follows easily.—Redfield, S. D., Press.

NEWS OF NEVADA CITY HIGH SCHOOL

The High School Parent-Teachers Association heard an address on "Home and Family Life," by Rev. Frank Buck, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal church, Grass Valley, last night, at the high school. The senior mothers served turkey dinner. Mrs. Roy Larson, Mrs. Leonard Lageson and Mrs. Doris O'Shaughnessy were in charge of arrangements. Franc Luschen and his high school string ensemble furnished music.

The American Association of University Women will present a puppet show entitled "Hansel and Gretel," in the high school auditorium this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Proceeds of the show will go into the organization's scholarship fund.

Miss Helen Chapman, girls physical education teacher, showed her class a film on skiing in Switzerland Monday.

A test on the second half of "The Tale of Two Cities," by Charles Dickens, is scheduled for Mrs. Constance Pfiffer's English classes Thursday.

The drive for funds for the Junior Red Cross began at the high school Tuesday.

The high school students are all happy because they get next week off for Thanksgiving and to top that off, it was decided that Christmas vacation would begin Friday, Dec. 15, and end Tuesday, Jan. 2, giving the students a week longer than they had last year.

The big minstrel show, produced and directed by Bill Tobiassen, will be presented this evening at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium. tI is scheduled to be one of the outstanding features to be presented at the high school in many years. The show will feature old time minstrel songs, dances and jokes that everyone used to enjoy quite a number of years ago. Prices for the show are elementary school students, 25 cents; and high school students and adults, 50 cents. So if you'd like to relive the days of the old minstrel shows, be at the high school auditorium this evening at 8 o'clock. A wonderful time is guaranteed. There will be from 10 to 11 specialty numbers, including two songs by Bud Seeberg, two songs by Kent Walker, two sonsg by boys' quartet, and two songs by Pat Sturtevant, including "A Good Man Is Hard to Find," and "Honky Tonkin'!" There will be a banjo solo by Bill Kohler of Grass Valley. Germaine Marsh will also do some dances, and music will be furnished by Willard Goerz and the high school orchestra. Selections will be "There's No Business Like Show Business," "Here Comes the Show Boat," "All Aboard for Cotton Town," and "It's a Great Day."

Mrs. Ruth Frantz gave a talk on the Moslem religion Thursday morning to Bill Tobiassen's history classes. She explained the establishment of the religion, about the sacred book, the Koran, the moral teachings of the Koran, duties required by the Koran, and many other interesting details. It was immensely enjoyed by all the students.

The biggest highlight of the football teason came when the high school B team coached by Bob Bonner won the championship and the trophy cup that goes with it, in a game with Marysville Tuesday evening at Hennessy field in Grass Valley. To celebrate the high school had a big parade down town Wednesday afternoon. With the band leading, the parade moved down Broad street. The B team also won the game Armistice day when they played the Grass Valley Muckers on the Hennessy field. The score by the way, for both games: Tuesday evening, 27-13, and Saturday afternoon, 12-7.

A Big Happy Thanksgiving from me to you.

Taking things for granted can often be embarrassing—and dangerous. A graphic illustration is the epitaph for a famous army mule, who believed she was invincible with her heels: "Here lies Maggie. She kicked two generals, three colonels, four majors, six captains, ten lieutenants, thirty sergeants, countless privates—and one bomb!"

When commenting on a subject of controversial nature, a newspaper is certain to disagree with one side or the other. Obviously, to avoid the controversial issues would constitute a mockery of our right of opinion under the United States constitution which guarantees freedom of the press—Havana, Ill., Democrat.

We Ask That "Fares" Play Fair

Judge Cunningham was telling about a taxi ride he took over to the County Seat last week. The cab was all littered with cigarette butts, plus candy and gum wrappers. This annoyed the Judge and he spoke to the driver about it.

To his surprise the cabman answered right back. "Don't blame me," he said "Fast as I clear this taxi out, the fares just mess it up again. I like a clean cab as well as anybody, but a man has to have some co-operation!"

Judge figures the fellow was in the right, and maybe we ought to do a little campaigning with the public. I agree with him—that's why I'm writing this article.

From where I sit, it's important for us to remember the fellow who's going to get in the cab after we leave it. Because he pays the same as we do, he's got the same right to a clean, comfortable ride—just as he has the same right to enjoy the beverage of his choice (be it coffee, beer, lemonade, or what have you).

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Christian Science lesson-sermon for Sunday with the golden text taken from the 84th Psalm: "The Lord God is a sun and shield: the Lord will give grace and glory: no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly."

The sermon will be comprised of other citations from the Bible and from "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, including the following:

Luke 13:11-13: "And, behold, there was a woman, which had a spirit of infirmity 18 years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God."

Science and Health: "If man is governed by the law of divine Mind, his body is in submission to everlasting Life and Truth and Love" (p. 216).

For this year's Thanksgiving day service to be held in all the Christian Science churches in the U. S., the golden text of the lesson-sermon will be taken from Psalms: "Oh, that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! And let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving, and declare his works with rejoicing" (107: 21, 22).

Included among the citations comprising the sermon will be the following:

The Bible: "And one of the elders answered, saying unto me, What are these which are arrayed in white robes? and from whence came they? And I said unto him, Sir, thou knowest. And he said to me, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb" (Revelation 7:13, 14).

"Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science awakens the sinner, reclaims the infidel, and raises from the couch of pain the helpless invalid. It speaks to the dumb the words of Truth, and they answer with rejoicing" (p. 342).

PRECINCT IN SIERRA COUNTY BLANKS VOTE

Howland Flat precinct, isolated by Canyon creek in northwestern Sierra county, failed to cast a vote in the recent general election, when insufficient electors were available to staff a board.

The precinct has only nine registered voters and six of them had gone to the valley for the winter.

Harold G. McKenzie, inspector, and Victor L. Smith and Alfred C. Dreyer, clerks of the board were available for voting, but Everett Hays, judge, was in San Francisco for the winter and reportedly ill — so the election board could not function.

Spaulding precinct in Nevada county, also an isolated district, on the other hand, voted 100 percent of the available registered electors—14.

Howland Flat precinct includes Poker Flat—recent site of a Sunday expedition by a few hardy members of the Nevada County Historical Society.

The three little pigs

(OR: HOW TO KEEP THE WOLF FROM THE DOOR.)

Remember the story of the three little pigs?

You'll recall that each built a house—the first one threw his together from straw, the second built a quickie out of twigs. The third pig carefully piled brick on brick, and made a really solid structure for himself.

You too, can place your business paper work on a solid structure, with statements, invoices, letterheads, envelopes, direct-mail advertising, match book advertising. Dish Gardens Displayed at Ridge Meetlng

"Dish and Miniature Gardens" was the interesting subject of Mrs. Marguerite Webb, Loomis, at the Ridge Road Garden Club last Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Byron Eastman.

Indoor gardening is such an exciting hobby at this time of year.

Imagination is a necessary factor and materials can be those found in gardens, the nearby woods, or the rocky streams. Moss, baby tears, manzanita branches, strips of cedar bark, unusual rocks, granulated charcoal, sand and loam, plastic clay, straw flowers, wild buck wheat, dried grasses and tweezers and toothpicks for the minature gardens, bowls, shells and even a cooked ham can cut down to a three-inch heighth are some of the articles which one finds useful when working on these gardens, Mrs. Webb pointed out.

An unusual "Wishing Well" was exhibited, made of strips of cedar glued to a coffee can, the inside varnished to make it water proof and a four-inch pot set within, containing a small specie of ivy. The little bucket was a piece of bambaoo cevered with cedar shingles.

A dish garden shown was in a copper bowl. A half inch of granulated charcoal is placed on the bottom. This is the real secret of a scccessful dish garden so that it will not sour. Then a layer of sand for drainage and finally the loam. A piece of manzanita the heighth one and a half times the width of the container was fastened to the bottom of the bowl with plastite. Interesting rocks were used around where the moss was planted and several types of plant then added.

A deer against the rocks, or figurines, can be the starting point of a dish garden. If succulents or cacti are to be used, sand is placed in the dish instead of the loam, and water is used more sparingly.

This hobby is a wonderful way to express your personality, Mrs. Webb stated.

Christmas arrangements were discussed. Some interesting pointers were: when making candles of used ones, be certain to not bring the wax to a high heat as it will shrink, discolor the wax and leave a deep hole in the center when it cools. If the candle is placed in a refrigerator to cool, do not leave too long as contraction will creack the wax.

A lovely arrangement was assembled by placing English laurel leaves, wiped with oil to brighten them, in a sunburnt effect upon a round mirror. Scotch tape was used to keep them in place. A large red candle was placed in the middle with various sizes of red Christmas ornaments and tinseled bows surrounding the base.

Small pine cones were shown which had been painted in various colors by pouring metallic paints into a quart jar with a necessary amount of banana oil, and then swished until entirely covered. These can be used to make sprays for the front door by using a different length of wire on each cone and attaching to a fir bough with a satin bow at the top. They are useful to decorate gift packages or any Christmas motif.

Hemlock cones, dipped in shellac, sprinkled with green sand and a little snow can be placed on a round, colored card board and used as table favors. The green sand may be obtained whereever ming tree supplies are sold. They look like minature Christmas trees.

Live oak branches, picked where there is a young growth, the leaves thinned out, can then be dipped in heavy starch, shaken well and sprinkled with mica. These lovely branches have many uses for flower arrangements. The starch should be luke-warm.

A gum-drop tree is always popular and can be easily made. A large manzanita branch is painted with flour and water, being certain to place one tablespoon of salt in each cup of flour. This painting is done twice. Rub a finger covered with flour paint across the top to make it appear heavy with snow. Take red and white gum-drops, covering the white ones with red and pink cellophane and the red ones with transparent cellophane and attach to the branches with wires.

The 14 beautiful button gardens were passed around and admired. Among these was a tiny ceramic madonna, backed with rice paper wood and placed on a large sky-blue button. Mrs. Caseboldt in Berkerley originated these miniatures, and made 1500 for the Red Cross during World War II.

NORTHERN MINES MAY BE SOURCE OF METALS IF MAJOR WAR STARTS

Nevada county and other mountain counties of the northern area may become a source of critical and strategic minerals if the current conflict in Asia flames into a major war.

This was the prediction of Oliver Bowen, San Francisco geologist of the state division of mines, at a meeting of the California Hydraulic Mining Association in the National hotel here Sunday afternoon.

The speaker said considerable research still is to be done but it is possible or probable the region can be a source of asbestos, abrasive garnet, pipe clay, chromite, manganese and building aggregates.

He asserted many valuable minerals are to be found in the great tertiary gravel channels which spread through the area, but in many cases extraction processes are costly and the materials can be obtained cheaper on foreign markets. In case of war, however, the speaker pointed out these deposits will be carefully tested for all possible strategic materials.

Bowen declared removal of gold from local gravels probably will depend upon what other materials can be recovered while the gold is being extracted.

He cited as an example an operation at Fair Oaks near Sacramento in which 50,000 cubic yards of gravel yielded $4,700 in gold. He said the $4,700 in gold would partially defray the expense of loading and shipping the gravels to be used in construction.

The speaker outlined latest developments in the hydraulic mining situation and said there still is no satisfactory solution for effective and inexpensive debris control and an adequate water supply to wash down the enormous gravel banks.

He said $800,000,000 in gold has been removed from the state's gravel deposits and that an enormous amount of gold, possibly equal to what has been removed, still is contained in the mountain gravels.

He traced the geologic history of the era through the various ages dating back to 160 million years.

In expanding on other materials besides gold in the tertiary gravels of California, Bowen pointed out that the clay deposits of the Lincoln area are a part of auriferous gravels. Also in the foothill areas are lignitic coal deposits which were used for fuel in the early days and are potential sources of waxes, resins, and gases drawn from the coal burning in place.

Bowen said much of the sand of the tertiary beds is suitable for glass making when the problem of extracting the iron bodies from the material is solved.

Bowen concluded his talk with several slides of geological studies of the Mother Lode country.

Major Ronald J. Thompson, engineer with the U. S. army, stationed in Sacramento, who appeared for Col. C. C. Haug,, secretary of the California Debris Commission, spoke briefly and declared there has been an upswing in applications for debris mining licenses. Major Thompson pointed out "it is difficult at the present time to make an honest nickle in mining."

A short eulogy and a moment of silence by the assembly revered the memory of Mrs. Adeline Merrian Conner, poet laureate of the San Juan Ridge, scent of some of California's most extensive hydralicking. Mrs. Conner died July 15, after a lingering illness.

Fifty members of the organization from Placer, Nevada and Sierra counties attended the meeting. George Hallock, Grass Valley, association president presided.

He served as blacksmith and mechanic for the Esperanza Mining company and later for the Bay Counties Power Company at Colgate.

On Nov. 2, 1890 he married Catherine Doyle of Birchville, where four children were reared.

With the cessation of hydraluic mining, Flynn worked for the Guggenheim Corporation in Yukin territory, Canada.

In 1914, the family moved to 345 Alexander street, Nevada City, where he hesided until his passing.

Miss Shirley Baker, leader of the local high school Majorettes, trained little Joy.

Sargent's Story

Our materials for a sketch of this interesting are are much more scanty than we could desire. It is the second place of importance in Nevada county, with an enterprising population, and a growing prosperity, despite a recent calamity by which it was almost entirely destroyed.

The chain of valleys of which Grass Valley is one of the largest and best located, extends from "Greenhorn Creek," just above what is known as "Buena Vista Ranch," in a southwesterly course nearly twelve miles, and embraces in its meanderings much very arable land, an ample supply of the best of water, and quantities of pine and oak timber. A portion of the immigration that came over the plains in 1849, by the Truckee route, were the first settlers. The worn-out and famished cattle belonging to the immigrants who had camped at or near the junction of Steep Hollow Creek with Bear river, wandered off for food, and were found after considerable search, living luxuriantly on good grass in the valley from which the town took its name. Being so good a camping ground the valley became a kind of oasis for many emigrants, some eight or ten of whom in September, 1849, built cabins on Boston Ravine, a half mile below the town, and commenced mining there. In December of the same year a Boston company of four persons came to the ravine, and were very successful miners until the water gave out in the spring of 1850, when they left. A gentleman, one Baldwin, a law student, was the principal person of the company. The ravine was named by this company.

Early in November, 1849, Samuel and George Holt and James Walsh came with wagons, tools, machinery, etc., to a place about four miles below Grass Valley for the purpose of erecting two saw mills—the one by the Messrs. Holt, a water mill, and Judge Walsh's, a steam mill. Zena Wheeler was of the party, and two others. The Holts finished their mill in March, 1850, and were sawing lumber on the 3rd of May. While working in the mill they were attacked by Indians, of whom there were a great many in the vicinity. We are informed that as many as seven hundred men and as many women attended their annual meetings or dances. The elder Holt (Samuel) was pierced and at once killed by their arrows. George Holt escaped with his life, fighting eight or ten Indians up the hill between the two mills, with only a small pocketknife in his hands, and fell into the arms of Judge Walsh covered with blood and wounded in thirteen places with their arrows. Only three of the company were at home at the time of the attack, Wheeler having gone below for the engine, and two others to the Yuba. The property was plundered and burnt the night after the attack on the Holts, and the camp of Judge Walsh was threatened. The Indians kept up an indescribable howling all night, and raise fires all over the hills. But the tenants of the camp well armed with old U. S. muskets, and with the help of a fine dog named "Brutus," of which the Indians were particularly shy, kept them at bay. "Brutus" for his watchfulness and courage was worth five soldiers; he would seize an Indian by the throat who was too obtrusive, and in divers way evinced that he was a dog for the occasion. A few friendly Indians gave their assistance during the night, and Captain Day (later county surveyor) and another man came in on noticing the fires and disorder. Old Chief Wemah behaved very well in the matter, gave the party his countenance and furnished the guard of friendly Indians. He also brought the dead body of Holt to the camp, and in all things was friendly, so far as could be observed. The next morning Captain Day and his friend started for Camp "Far West" on Johnston's Ranch at Bear river; and the morning after, twenty-four U. S. soldiers arrived, supplied by Major Day, commanding at that station. An hundred miners from Deer Creek also poured in, and in a couple of days thye had run and killed off all the Indians. Mr. G. Holt was removed to Stocking's store on Deer Creek, below Nevada.

A less cause than these Indian troubles influenced the State to issue $600,000 worth of war bonds for the El Dorado and Mariposa Indians wars, but we believe the Legislature refused Messrs. Walsh and Holt anything for their losses and their services. Perhaps it was because they did not resort to the modus operandi that secured the success of many legislative acts.

Judge Walsh removed to Grass Valley where he built a saw mill in July, 1850. Among the early settlers were Z. Wheeler, C. W. Wood, B. C. Lamarque, F. Squire, Fowler and others. The first cabin built on Main street, Grass Valley, was by a man named Scott, nearly opposite where the Grass Valley Hotel stood before the fire. The first hotel was built by J. B. Underwood, called "The Mountain Home."

As late as January, 1851, there were but three or four cabins in Grass Valley proper. Shortly after, the population increased rapidly, and an attempt made to change the name to Centerville, as there were so many places known as Grass Valley it was difficult to have letters sent properly. The growth of Grass Valley in 1851 was remarkable. Probably no town in this State has ever sprung into importance so suddenly. Much of this was owing to an excitement in reference to quartz mining, then in full operation.

The first piece of gold bearing quartz was picked up on Gold Hill, in September, 1850, by a German, who disturbed it with his foot while carrying a bucket of water. The piece was sold by him to F. Squire for five dollars, and proved to be worth one hundred. Several of the miners from the neighborhood, and a good many from Deer Creek, immediately went onto the hill and broke up the pieces of quartz which lay exposed, but as they found nothing, the excitement died away till the first of November, when a party —of whom James Huff was one—in getting out rock for the chimney for a cabin they were building on Gold Hill, struck a quartz ledge, where it was rich. Claims were immediately staked off, and men began to pound the quartz in mortars, with spring poles. Huff's company took out about $20,000 in this way during the winter and spring. The first quartz mill was built in January, 1851, on Wolf Creek, nearly opposite the present Empire mill, by two Germans, for Mr. J. Wright, Jr. The mill (a water mill) was a small affair and not successful, but it was the second one built in the state, the first mill being built in 1850, in Mariposa county, which also proved a failure. Grass Valley claims the first successful quartz mills in California. In the winter of 1850-51, Messrs. Sowers, Abbey and Ridgell built a small steam mill. In the spring of 1851 Judge Walsh erected a quartz mill, which he afterwards sold to Collins and Crossett, which mill always paid. The Gold Hill Company, about a month after commenced the erection of a mill, and Judge Walsh another one still later. An English company, called the "Agua Frio," bought or leased the interest of the proprietors in the mills and leads in August, 1853, and conducted the business under the superintendence of Messrs. Hepburn and Atwood. The new "Helvetia" mill was erected by Conway and Preston in the fall of 1851 and was worked profitably. Colonel Richardson erected one in the smmer of 1851. The "Mount George" mill was erected about the same time. In 1852 the "French Company" erected a mill, the "Rocky Bar Mining Company," and James Winchester in the same year. The latter has been used for lumber though built originally for quartz. The "Union Company" constructed a mill in 1853, but the lead was abandoned and the mill removed.

The first quartz mill was on Gold Hill; the next on Massachusetts Hill, where the first claims were taken up in December, 1850, by A. Delano, generally known as "Old Block." We believe the "chips" did not suit him; so he turned his attention to expressing for Wells, Fargo & Co., in which he occasionally expresses the ideas that have made him so generally known throughout the State.

Next week's installment will complete the history of the first five years of Nevada county as written by Aaron A. Sargent. The Nugget will print the history in a booklet form and place it on sale at a price of 50 cents a copy. The booklets will probably be ready for delivery in December or early January. Order now to insure receipt of one.

PEACE OF MIND

200,000 freshmen can't be wrong!

We believe that something has happened in 1950 that you should take to heart.

Ever since this year's Buicks were introduced, their big bulge in sales has come from people who traded other makes of cars for this bounteous beauty.

The total is more than 200,000.

That's 200,000 "freshmen" added to the roll call of Buick owners—200,000 people who must have sized up the current version of the cars they owned, and decided that Buick offered more thrill, more comfort, more satisfaction for the money.

Beyond that, of course, there were other hundreds of thousands who already owned a Buick and bought a new one this year. But we're speaking here of new owners only.

We can name many reasons for this landslide — including Fireball power — an incomparable ride — and Dynaflow Drive.*

We can remind you that the Buick SPECIAL, SUPER and ROADMASTER just about blanket the range of a car-owner's aspirations—matching prices with many sixes in the lower brackets—matching distinction with the finest in the fine-car field.

We might add that Buick prices are doubly attractive—since their list prices include many features customarily on the "extra" list.

But why try to spell out all the reasons Buick wins in a showdown? The proof of the pudding is in this great car itself. Better come in—look it over—and find out what an unbeatable buy it is.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

DEPARTING PRINCIPAL BLASTS CONDITION OF NEVADA COUNTY ROADS

Lloyd Geist, for the past six years principal of Nevada City elementary school, who departs at the end of the month to assume the office of superintendent of Mendota elementary schools in Fresno county, blasted the condition of Nevada county roads at a meeting of the local school board Monday evening at the elementary school.

Geist said some of the county roads have become so hazardous he suggests buses be taken off some of them until they are repaired. He particularly cited the Cement Hill and Lake Vera roads stating they are full of holes and overgrown with brush and present travel over them is damaging the school buses.

Geist said springs and tie rods of the school buses have been damaged repeatedly on the roads of the area.

Following Geist's criticism the trustees voted to present a formal letter to the board of supervisors requested the roads be repaired. Trustee J. Paul Bergemann was named to present the letter to the supervisors.

To replace Geist as principal of the Nevada City school, the board Monday hired Bruce Milburn Foreman, 42, graduate student at Fresno State College. He will take office Dec. 1.

Foreman, a native of Arkansas, was graduated from Henderson State College, Arkadelphia, Ark., where he majored in mathematics. He was school superintendent in Bismarck, Ark., for six years, and has served as principal of the Plainsburg school, Merced.

Foreman is married and has three children. He is studying at Fresno State College for credits toward a master's degree.

Foreman was hired until July 1 at a salary of $400 a month.

The trustees moved to accept credits gained in Sacramento State College extension courses toward the requirements as set forth in the district's salary schedule.

According to the salary schedule a teacher qualifies for a raise in salary each three years after proof of attendance of one six-hour summer session in that period. Units acquired through extension courses now will be accepted toward this requirement.

The trustees also voted to permit use of the high school gymnasium by the Nevada County Chapter, American Association of University Women this afternoon for presentation of a puppet show, "Hansel and Gretel." The show will start at 2 p.m. and proceeds will go into the AAUW scholarship fund.

BIGGEST SCORE OF SERIES TOTED AS MINERS WIN

Nevada City and Grass Valley high school football varsities met for the 52nd time in the county classic Saturday afternoon on Hennessy field in Grass Valley and when the timer's gun mercifully ended the game the Miners of Grass Valley had rolled up a new record score 45 to 6 and victory. It was the 34th victory for the Miners since the classic series started in 1904.

Previous high was 40 points scored three times by the Miners, 40-7 in 1921, 40-0 in 1922, and 40-0 in 1933. Nevada City's top score was a 35-0 victory in 1916.

The Miners scored three quick touchdowns in the first quarter of the game and were never in trouble.

Nevada City received and fumbled the opening kickoff on the 22-yard line and Tackle Bob Trathen recovered for the Miners. On the first scrimmage play of the game, Left Half Charles Hollmer slashed through the line for a touchdown. The Miners star back kicked the extra point.

Three minutes later the Miners had possession of the ball once more and Hollmer flipped a pass to End Barry Halverstadt for a second touchdown in a play that had the entire Yellowjacket team suckered to the east side of the field while the end raced down the west side untouchable for the score. Hollmer's kick for extra point was wide.

Toward the end of the quarter Hollmer took a Mello Pello punt on the Yellowjacket 40 yard line and returned it for the third Miner score. The conversion try was blocked.

Jim Scribner, fullback for the Yellowjackets, who with Center Gordon Lageson, dominated the Nevada City playing, staged a display of line plunging and bulled his way down the field for several first downs in the second quarter, scoring the Nevada City TD from the one-yard line. Halfback Dean Morrison failed in a line plunge for the extra point.

Jim Shelton took the third quarter kickoff on his ten yard line and raced back 26 yards. On the ground the Miners moved to the Nevada City 35. Hollmer hit Shelton with a pass on the 15, and the fleet halfback raced the final yards around left end for the score. A pass play failed in the conversion attempt.

Scribner fumbled the kickoff on the 15 yard line and Grass Valley recovered for another opportunity. Hollmer raced around right end for the TD. Shelton passed to Stewart Smith for the extra point.

Dick Wegman intercepted a Morrison pass on the Miners 25 and Smith galloped 75 yards for the longest scoring run of the game. The conversion failed.

The Miners final touchdown came after a drive following an interception of a Nevada City aerial. Norman Tipton, center for the Miners carried the interception 30 yards to the Miners 35. Hollmer raced around left end to the Yellowjacket 38 and then passed to Shelton on the 20, who was pushed out of bounds on the one-foot line. Shelton plunged for the final touchdown and then passed to Gordon Hutchings for the extra point.

COUNCIL AUTHORIZES BID FOR FIELD LIGHTS

Nevada City council late yesterday authorized invitation of bids to supply electrical fixtures and lights for the lighting of the Pioneer Park athletic field.

The complete lighting job in which Nevada City and the unified school district will take part is expected to cost approximately $8,000.

The school district has agreed to share costs of the installation up to $4,000.

City Councilman Marvin Haddy said last night every effort will be made to have the lights on in time for baseball late next spring.

Installation is expected to furnish adequate illumination for baseball, softball and football.

LAGESON AND SCRIBNER WIN ELKS AWARDS AS OUTSTANDING GRIDDERS

Gordon Lageson, center, and Jim Scribner, fullback, of the Nevada City high school varsity football team were jointly presented with the Elks Club outstanding player award at a dinner in the clubrooms last night.

In presenting the awards, Edward A. Frantz, high school principal, and exalted ruler of the Elks, said both players had displayed a high degree of athletic skill and sportsmanship during their performances during the season just closed.

He said the award committee had closely studied the records of both and had reached the conclusion the award would be made jointly.

Dick Penrose, star halfback of the 1949 varsity, and now enrolled as a freshman at Oregon State College, won the award in 1949.

The championship junior varsity team which won the Sierra Foothill league championship, was paid high tribute. Golden footballs will be presented each member of the squad.

Sharing honors with the two football teams was the C basketball team coached by Warren Immel.

YELLOWJACKETS LOSE FINAL GAME OF SEASON

Nevada City high school Yellowjackets closed a winless season Tuesday night by receipting for a 26-0 defeat at the hands of the Marysville Indians on Hennessy field, Grass Valley.

Recovering a Marysville fumble in the first sequence of plays the Yellowjackets drove to the Marysville 14 yard line where their offense bogged down. The Indians dominated the rest of the game.

Fullback Dick Burgess scored for the visitors midway in the first quarter and a pass from Hal Higgins to Dick Anley, a glue fingered end scored the extra point.

Vic Boswell scored the second Marysville touchdown in the second quarter to climax a 40-yard drive. Allan Hewitt blocked the attempted pass for extra point.

Anley scored the third Indian touchdown in the third quarter on a pass into the corner of the end zone. Higgins who tossed the scoring pass attempted and failed to kick the extra point.

The fourth and final score in the fourth quarter was another pass from Higgins, this time to Right End Don Davis. The Higgins to Anley pass combination furnished the 26th and final point.

The A game was played as a preliminary to the B game which sawe Nevada City win its first football championship in the history of league competition.

$641 PROFIT

Paid admissions at the Armistice day football game between Nevada City and Grass Valley high schools totaled 1,658, and the income amounted to $878.80. A net profit of $641.88 will be divided between the two schools.

BEE GRIDDERS GRIND OUT 12 TO 7 VICTORY OVER GRASS VALLEY

In complete command of the game from the starting whistle to the final gun, Bob Bonner's Bees of Nevada City high school nonchanlantly and in a business-like unspectacular manner drubbed Homer Ostrom's Muckers of Grass Valley high school 12-7 Saturday afternoon in the preliminary game of the Armitice day classic.

The Muckers once penetrated to the Bees 40-yard line, and scored their only touchdown late in the fourth quarter on an unusual break. Ernie Pello, Bee fullback, was plunging for a touchdown from the threee-yard line, when the ball squirted from his hands. Before it hit the ground, Ed Beck, Mucker left guard, grabbed the porkhide and raced 95 yards for a TD.

The undefeated Bees, tied only by Placer high school 13-13, big with a line of long-armed rangy youths headed by 200-pound Captain Walt Tanner, right tackle, and with six equally capable backs, methodically ground out the victory over the hapless Muckers who were never able to get in gear.

Guard Roger Smith intercepted a pass on the Bees 35 in the first quarter and raced it back 30 yards to set up the first score of the game. Left Half Bill Sturtevant was sprung through center, cut to the left in the secondary and raced unhampered into the endzone.

The Muckers in the second quarter made their only bid of the game when they penetrated the mid-stripe and reached the 40 before losing the ball on downs.

Steve Pieser climaxed a third quarter drive of the Bees by racing seven yards to the clinching touchdown for the Sierra Foothill League chompions.

FOUR GAMES ADDED TO TRADITIONAL SERIES

We have learned that four games were omitted from our list of football scores between Nevada City and Grass Valley high schools which we published last week.

Nevada City won two of the four, a 30-0 victory in 1906 and a 6-5 game in 1908. In repeat games those years Grass Valley won 11-5 in 1906 and 8-6 in 1908. Prior to 1908 a touchdown was five points.

With Grass Valley's 45-6 victory last Saturday the series now stands at 34 victories for Grass Valley, 12 for Nevada City, and six ties.
